

RE:THINK

BEHAVIOUR-FOCUSED

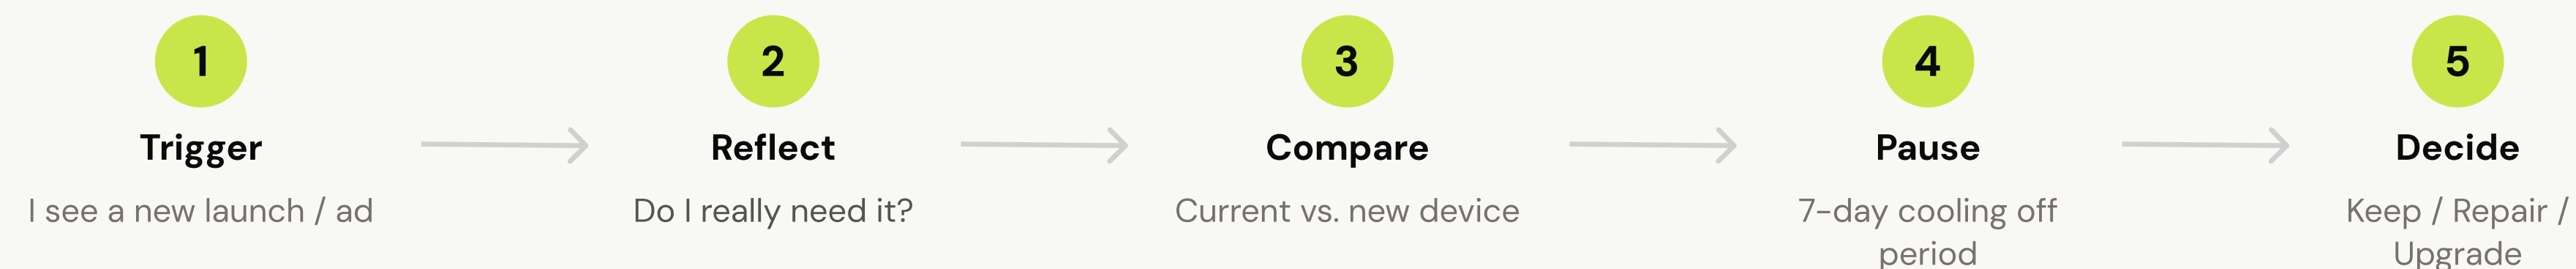

Pause before you upgrade.

A behavioural design intervention that helps users recognise upgrade triggers, evaluate their actual needs, and make more conscious decisions.

I don't need a new phone.
I've been made to feel like I do.

HOW IT WORKS

PSYCHOLOGICAL TRIGGERS

FOMO

Fear of missing out on new features

Marketing & launch hype

Framed as a lifestyle upgrade

Perceived obsolescence

Working phone feels old

INTERVENTIONS (EXAMPLE)

Upgrade trigger check

Identify real need vs marketing

Need vs. want reflection

Compare with current device

Personal device value

Show remaining life, cost & impact

Cooling-off period

7-day pause before purchase

Keep-it rewards

Celebrate continued use

BENEFITS

- ✓ More intentional decisions
- ✓ Reduced unnecessary upgrades
- ✓ Increased awareness of impact
- ✓ Builds pride in keeping devices
- ✓ Behavioural shift towards mindful consumption

LIMITATIONS / RISKS

- ✗ May not work for genuine needs
- ✗ Requires behaviour change
- ✗ Marketing influence is very strong
- ✗ Needs continuous engagement